I just talked to TCEQ (Melinda Torres)..... they have their call-down list ready for DW and WWTP facilities and will start making calls either Monday or Tuesday.

TCEQ also is also talking to their regional offices regarding when to start calling/inspecting oil/haz facilities..... they don't have a start date for that given that the storm is still spinning over the impacted area.

I've seen news reports that the City of Victoria is under a BWA but I don't have confirmation from TCEQ or the SOC.

I need to talk to OSCs McAteer and Brescia to find out when TCEQ is going to start updating DW status updates in RM.

Kim, Mark, Angela, Andy,

Other than the BWA in Corpus do we have any PWS impact information available?

Jim

Kim - that was exactly the answer I was looking for. Please keep us in the loop, but as a layman, I may ask a question or two.

Thanks again,

Bryant the email was a routine notification we send air carriers when there is a BWA

Pls let us know how to best coordinate w you on routine communications i.e. send to you prior if needed

Thanks Kim. Just to clarify, why did EPA send this notification vs Corpus Christi or TCEQ?

Subject: Boil Water Advisory for City of Corpus Christi Airport (CRP)

Hi EPA Region 6 Air Carriers,

I wanted to inform you that due to conditions within the City of Corpus Christi caused by Hurricane Harvey, the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality has required the City of Corpus Christi to notify all of their customers to boil their water prior to consumption. Please do not board water from the Corpus Christi airport (CRP) onto your aircraft until the boil water advisory has lifted.
